Content under development or not currently available:

If you were directed to this location by either an existing link as part of the wildlife/game areas information resources, or a saved link you have from before.

- If you are using a saved link or location from before, then the content you bookmarked may have been moved to a better location as part of our managed wildlife/game areas information. You may need to update your saved bookmarks.

- However, If you were directed here by a link on the current DNR website pages:
  - The document or map intended at this location is either temporarily unavailable or this file location was developed as we are adding or improving information and features, and will hopefully be replaced soon with a newer version developed to better serve the reader's needs, contain quality information, and be a more usable product. Please return later for updates.

  - The document you are presently seeing at this location may be part of content management steps as we are making changes, this location is being phased-out as web-provided information changes over time, and this location may no longer be valid so will later not exist as this link location.

We appreciate your patience as we develop new and better information. Thank you.

Other leads for more information:

The Michigan DNR website – at http://www.michigan.gov/dnr - already provides a wide variety of detailed information: Details include specifics on State land areas, habitat management, information on game and nongame species, and more. Please review these other online resources for existing information.

If you have questions, use the online DNR resources or contact a DNR Operation Service Center using a contact link off the DNR web page at www.michigan.gov/dnr, or a contact phone number from your local phone book.

DNR Wildlife Division specific or wildlife specific questions can be directed to phone 1-517-284-WILD (9453).

A new interactive online mapping tool exists: Have you tried Mi-HUNT?
Mi-HUNT is the interactive online mapping tool created specifically to help Michigan hunters and outdoor enthusiasts find land details, use DNR resource information to review areas across Michigan, see all State lands, public hunting / trapping lands, cooperating private landowner lands like the Hunter Access Program or Commercial Forest lands, and much more. Why not give Mi-HUNT a try? http://www.michigan.gov/mihunt
